

Language Identification Organizer

Listen closely and check off each sentence or partial sentence as you hear it.

- That's one of the basic rules of running a successful store
- Unless you have a membership card
- I paid $55 for the privilege of shopping at Costco
- He started the first warehouse membership store, and we asked him what he was thinking
- And I can come in and shop, and most people can't come in and get in here
- Robert Price built that first store almost 40 years ago, it wasn't even open to regular shoppers like us
- It was supposed to be a store for stores, and it was a disaster
- As a sort of last-ditch move to save his store, he decided to let regular people shop there, and people loved it
- There are no signs in Costco
- I don't know whether I'd use the word devious, but it was manipulative
- Carrot juice is a good call. I like the carrot juice call